CHARLEROI TO HELP RECEIVE SOLDIER BOYS FROM BORDER

Plans Being Arranged for Participation in Monongahela Celebration

BANDS WILL GO FROM HERE

Notice to be Given Upon Arrival of Tenth in Pittsburgh—Speechmaking and Banquet to "Boys" to Feature
Day at Pittsburgh.

Charleroi will be well represented at the reception which will be tendered by Company A, Tenth Regiment upon their return Tuesday or Wednesday to Monongahela. The American Federation band and the Charleroi Veteran Guard Drum Corps will go to Monongahela together with a big delegation of citizens. The Charleroi reception plans are now being worked up. Burgess S. L. Woodward, President J. B. Schafer of the Charleroi Business Men's Association and others having been interested.

When the Tenth arrives in Pittsburgh the news will be flashed to Monongahela and at once sent to Charleroi to the Mail or to the properly designated ones to receive the information. Immediate plans will be made for the delegation to go from here, and when the train steams in bearing the troops from the Mexican border, Charleroi will take its part in extending a hearty welcome.

At Monongahela today a telegram was received from Capt. Hartland of Company A, dated Kansas City. The train was 18 hours late and traveling slow. This gave Monongahela people the idea that it would be Wednesday before the arrival of the troops.

A parade will be a feature in Pittsburgh. A meeting will be held in Memorial hall and James Francis Burke and Congressman Thomas S. Crago will be speakers. Dr. James P. Kerr, president of Pittsburgh city council will preside. A banquet will be served the men. Within three hours after arrival trains will be made up and the ceremonies at an end, so that the soldiers can entrain for their respective headquarters. Necessary examinations will be made. It is said at the armories, so that it is indefinite when the Tenth will be mustered out. There is talk that later, after the home-coming reception at Monongahela, (Charleroi, Belle Vernon and Fayette City will join at a celebration in honor of Company A members of the upper valley, the reception in this event to be held in Charleroi.

MADDENED BULL KILLS FARMER

Joseph Miller of Near Claysville Gored to Death by Infuriated Beast

TRAGEDY NOT WITNESSED

Attacked by a ferocious bull, Joseph Miller, aged 64 years of near Dunsfort, a widely known farmer of the Claysville section, was so crushed by the infuriated beast that his death occurred a few minutes after he had been discovered. The animal was killed immediately.

Miller had gone to the field, which was just a short distance from his home about 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning to feed some stock. The Guernsey bull had shown signs of viciousness but was not feared by his owner. Nobody saw the big animal attack him.

Almost dead, Miller was discovered by Bruce Rizer, who was employed on the Miller farm. Glancing toward the field, he saw the bull walk away from the form of his employer, who lay helpless on the ground. He hurried to his side and then summoned help to remove the body to the Miller home. The injured man mumbled only a few words before he died.

It is supposed that the bull rushed Miller as he entered the field. Miller was unarmed and was helpless. Evidently he had been hurled against the fence as the animal charged with head lowered. He was terribly crushed about the chest, but was not otherwise hurt, being only slightly bruised about the face and head.

Miller was a lifelong resident of the Dunsfort section, having been born only a half mile from where he met his death. He was a son of the late Jacob Miller. For a number of years he had been a member of the Dutch Fork Christian church. In politics he was a Democrat.

His wife, formerly Miss Mina Miller, and two sons survive: Walter Miller of near West Alexander and Joseph Miller, Jr., at home. He leaves two brothers and onesister, R. H. Miller and William Miller of near Dunsfort, and Mrs. Margaret Anderson of near West Alexander.

ONE RIDER HURT ON BELLE VERNON TRACK

Ralph French, Charleroi Motorcyclist, Spills When Making Turn at Great Rate of Speed and Sustained
Serious Fracture—Riley Wins

Not free from accident were the motorcycle races on the Belle Vernon race track Saturday afternoon. Ralph French, a Harley-Davidson rider from Charleroi, was speeding to make a turn and pass Fritz Riley who was in the lead, fell from his machine when it skidded and in the fall, sustained a serious fracture of a leg. He was brought home after being given medical attention.

REV. R. L. HAYES, SPEAKS OF THEME "HEAVEN" ON SUNDAY

Solemn services marked the close of the first week of the mission being conducted at St. Jerome's church. Rev. R. L. Hayes preached on Heaven. The blessing of the Pope was imparted and the congregation renewed their baptismal vows. Rev. Hayes said in part:

"Every son and daughter of Adam was born for heaven; the call to Paradise is for all. God did not create the whole human race together. He calls each soul into being by a separate act of creation. Christ died not only to save mankind. He died to save the individual soul as though that were the only one created. So too, heaven was called into being by God, not only for the great company of the faithful, it was created for the individual soul as though that were the only one redeemed by Christ. The soul of each Christian yearns for Paradise. Yet how many there are who live as the chief purpose of life were to creep out of God's anger."

"In heaven there is happiness unmingled with sorrow. On earth poor humanity is spared no pain."

"The real story of heaven is the possession of God's own self. God will share His own happiness with us. So far as that we may as a finite creature, we shall know Him as He is, yea even as He knows us."

Sunday evening the services for the men were inaugurated. Rev. Father Scheer spoke on "Man's Great Work in Life, the Salvation of his Soul." These services will be continued every evening during the week at 7:30. This evening the subject of the discourse will be "The Rebellion of the Soul."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors, for their kindness and sympathy, during the recent bereavement of husband, and father, also for their beautiful floral tributes.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our thanks and appreciation to the many friends who expressed their sympathy in so many ways in our bereavement. We also wish to thank all for the flowers sent.

Noah Carson and Children. 97-11-p.

Funeral services will be held at the Miller home Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in charge of the Rev. J. D. Patterson. Interment will be in the West Alexander cemetery.

MONONGAHELA WOMAN ILL BUT ONE WEEK DIES

Mrs. Minerva Jane Stephens, wife of Charles E. Stephens, died at her home at Monongahela Saturday following a week's illness of pneumonia. She was the daughter of Moses and Josephine Applegate Colvin, and was born in Fallowfield township August 22, 1871. When she was young her family moved to the old Applegate homestead in Forward township, Allegheny county and lived there until her marriage to Mr. Stephens January 25, 1898.

Besides her husband four children survive: Frank, Josephine, Jean and Frances, all at home. Two sisters are also living, Mrs. Harry Holliday of Mt. Lebanon and Mrs. Mary McCurdy.

WOMAN MESSENGER PASSES AWAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Miss Mary Virginia Phillips died Sunday at her home at Monongahela following a year's illness. She was for 15 years messenger between Monongahela and Pittsburgh, but gave up her work in June, hoping that a rest would benefit her health. She was born at Monongahela and lived there all her life. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT STARTS VISITING THIS WEEK

Supt. L. R. Cramrine of the county schools started today making his first visit to the rural schools. Superintendent Cramrine will visit the schools in regular order from now on. The school enrollment for the rural districts has not yet come in but it is thought it will be ready for publication within a few days and that it will show an increase over previous years. The schools are all open now in regular session and teachers have been obtained for all the rooms. The Smith township schools will open on Monday. They were closed last week on account of the Burgetstown fair.

FORMER COUNTY MAN NAMED FOR THE SUPREME COURT

News of the nomination of William McBride Perrin, a native of Independence township for justice of the supreme court in the state of Washington by the Republicans, has been received. Prospects are considered bright for his election. Mr. Perrin graduated from W. & J. in the class of 1875. He attended Harvard law school in 1879 and came to Washington. From 1879 until 1887 he was located there. Going to Pittsburgh, he practiced there for four years and then located in Tacoma, Wash., just 25 years ago.

PAY-UP WEEK ONE OF PROSPERITY
AS NUMEROUS ACCOUNTS ARE PAID

Old Accounts Squared Up. Some of Them Dating Back as Far as Two Years—Untold Sums Change Hands

Though tabulation has not been made nor the results entirely made known, enough has been learned to know that Pay-up Week celebrated in Charleroi last week was remarkably successful. Numerous old accounts were paid up, some of them running back as far as two years. Untold sums of money changed hands and the week was one of prosperity.

MRS. DEPASSE DIES SUNDAY

Wife of Leon Depasse, Fallowfield Baker, Expires
From Heart Trouble

TO HOLD FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Marie Depasse, aged 49 years seven months and 10 days, wife of Leon Depasse, died at her home at 629 Fallowfield avenue Sunday at 12:45 o'clock from rheumatism of the heart.

Mrs. Depasse is a well known woman. Her husband has conducted the Charleroi Economical bakery on Fallowfield avenue, with her assistance for nine years, coming to Charleroi from Kane. No children survive, the only son having died about five years ago.

Mrs. Depasse was a member of the Pocahontas lodge in Monongahela. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning, with requiem high mass at 9 o'clock at St. Jerome's Catholic church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

STEEL ATHLETICS TAKE FINAL GAME FROM THE PRODUCTS

Championship Series Won by Osborne-Urben's Men in Last Encounter—Hard Fought is Fourth, With Sixth Much of Repetition.

The steel championship over which there has been quibbling enough to make even the firm factories shake of the Pittsburgh Steel company and Pittsburgh Steel Products company at Monessen, Saturday afternoon went to the Pittsburgh Steel Athletics. Interest in this deciding game was second only to that world's series being staged at Brave's Field, Boston, but the score was considerably different because of its one-sidedness. It was 10 to 3.

Both teams scored in the third in Continued on Page 4.

Miss Ida May Hugg Succumbs to Shock and Illness at Hospital

QUIT DUTIES FEW DAYS AGO

Relinquished Her Work in High School Only Last Tuesday—Schools to Close Tuesday Afternoon in Memory to Her

Miss Ida May Hugg, one of the best known teachers of the Charleroi schools and generally regarded as one of the most efficient, died Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from shock following an operation for intestinal tumor at the McKeesport hospital. She was taken to the institution on Saturday and the operation performed. It seemed successful and Miss Hugg came from under the influence of the anaesthetic seemingly all right. Then at noon Sunday the relatives were hurriedly summoned to her bedside. Before they could arrive she had died.

Miss Hugg was born November, 1870 at Belle Vernon, the daughter of Anthony and Elizabeth Hugg. She was educated for teaching at the California Normal school, later taking a course at Sage college, Ithaca, N. Y.

Miss Hugg has been engaged in the teaching profession since the age of 18 years, beginning her life-work at Belle Vernon. Later she taught successively at Washington, Donora, Wilkinsburg and from Wilkinsburg came to Charleroi, where she has been teaching since the fall of 1904. First she taught in the grades here and for the last two years she has been a high school instructor. One year she served as principal of Junior high school. Her efficiency and thoroughness in her chosen work made her generally admired and respected. This year Miss Hugg started in as mathematics teacher at high school. She taught but three days when illness compelled her to discontinue her work. Her condition steadily grew worse until her physician ordered her to a hospital.

In the surviving members of the family are Miss Hugg's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hugg, one sister, a half-brother, and three half-sisters. The sister is Mrs. H. S. Pierson of Charleroi, and the half-brother and half-sisters are John E. Hugg of Buckhannon, W. Va., Mrs. Thomas Swan, Morgantown, W. Va., Mrs. Elizabeth Hixenbaugh and Mrs. Victoria Parry of Woodlawn. Miss Hugg's father died in 1915.

Tomorrow afternoon all the Charleroi schools will be closed in honor to Miss Hugg. The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Perrin Baker, pastor of the Belle Vernon Presbyterian church of which the deceased was a member, at 2:30 o'clock at the church. Interment will be in the Belle Vernon cemetery.

Meeting of the Charleroi Cemetery Co. was postponed until Friday evening, October 13, 1916 at 7 p. m. in I. P. Heplers office, 411 Fallowfield avenue, Charleroi, Pa.

Joss Sticks.
The composition of the candles called joss sticks, which are used in all the religious ceremonies of Buddhism, for a long time remained a mystery, the preparation of the sticks being entrusted to certain persons chosen from a limited class. A French chemist, however, learned the manner of making joss sticks in Indo-China. A stem of bamboo is rolled in a preparation containing fourteen different odiferous drugs, two of which are essential as showing a knowledge of chemical and medical properties. These are acetic, which serves to protect the sticks against the attacks of rats and mice and camphor, which causes them to burn steadily without being perceptibly extinguished.

His One Regret.

"There's no use trying to deny it," remarked Mrs. Delbert. "This is the worst cook we've had yet. There positively isn't a decent thing to eat on the table." "That's right," rejoined Delbert. "But," continued his wife, "there's one thing in her favor. She can't be beat when it comes to washing." "Why we can't eat the washing," snorted the hungry husband.—Chicago News.

HE LOST HIS FRECKLES.

James Whitcomb Riley's Tale of How the Trick Was Turned.

As a youth James Whitcomb Riley was burdened with freckles. Always sensitive regarding anything reflecting upon him personally, he grieved over what he considered an insurmountable misfortune. He told of his effort at emancipation:

"One day I saw in a drug store window what was said to be a sure cure for moth, tan, freckles, etc. I pondered possession of a bottle, but—50 cents! Of course I could never buy it. Why, I didn't get 50 pennies in a whole year."

But he managed to finance himself by manipulation of the market money when doing errands for his parents and he bought a bottle of the magic stuff. He ran with it to the barnyard and rubbed it all over his face, then raced off to school to make up the time he had lost.

"When I stepped inside the door all the school started to laugh at me," he says. "The teacher asked me what I meant by coming to school in such a condition. Bewildered and ignorant of what it all meant, I followed her out the door. She showed me my face in a mirror, and it was like a yellow banner. The directions had said to rub it off immediately with salt water and water of an egg, all of which I had ignored. To get the sting off my face he had to rub until the skin felt it. But when it was all over the freckles were actually gone and never came back."

ning. The Steel tallied one. Kelly singled, passed to second on Roberts' single and went farther on Urban's sacrifice, scoring on an error.

In their half of the third the Steel Products scored all the runs they made during the game. With one down Toothman singled. Elliott was safe on a shortstop error and V. McGinty on an error at second. Wilson singled and this was followed by a single by Kirkpatrick. Results were three runs.

Cannonading started in the fourth for the Steel. Gross started it with a double. Long passed to first on a walk. Kelly was safe on an error. Roberts' flew out. Urban singled. Scores were tallied by all. Shaw who was sent to the pitcher's mound being unable to stop the run getting as quick as would have been liked though he did work for the next two outs. In the sixth four runs were netted. With one down Kelly and Urban singled successively. That means runs of course. Mackey flied out Boucher tripped, cleaning the bases and Abbott scored him with a single. Kiefer went into the box for the products and the remainder of the game was tight.

The game will probably close the season for both teams. Plans are however already under way for next season, when there will be a come-back for both. Score:

HIS GREATEST GAME.

The Climax of Mathewson's Fame as a Baseball Pitcher.

We always have believed that the greatest game that Mathewson ever pitched was the eighth and deciding contest between Boston and New York in the world's series of 1912. He should have shut the Red Sox out in that battle, but his team faltered and broke behind him, and Boston finally won in ten innings by a score of 3 to 2.

Matty had been the unanimous choice of his comrades. He felt that it might be the last world's series game he ever would pitch, and he put into his work all the cunning and skill that the years had given him. In those ten innings he gave everything he had, and it was a marvelous exhibition of twirling.

When he entered the box his step was springy and his head held high. He looked almost boyish. When he left the mound after the game it was with bent head and lagging feet, but the Boston crowd stood up in the stands and cheered, not their team, which had just won the world's championship, but the defeated Mathewson.

Hard headed ball players had tears on their cheeks as they ran to Matty to throw their arms across his shoulders, and McGraw hurried across to meet him from the bench, saying: "It wasn't your fault, Matty. You pitched the greatest game I ever saw."—New York World.

FREE FROM BEETLES.

Spitzbergen Is the Only Land in the World Without Them.

One of the most amazing things in natural history is the way in which beetles have triumphed in the struggle for existence, says the Popular Science Monthly. Of all creatures they are by far the most numerous, no fewer than 150,000 distinct species having been identified—three times the number of backboneed animals.

Beetles are found practically everywhere—in the frost bound tracts of Iceland and in the hot desert sands of Africa, on the highest mountains, under the ground and as fossil in the deepest strata, on land and in water, on plants, among stones and in wood and earth and even in the very craters of volcanoes.

But there is one place where no beetle has yet been found. It is the inhospitable land of Spitzbergen, to the north of Russia. Here are found the mammals, birds, fish, mollusks, crustaceans, a few insects of varied species and many spiders, but not a single beetle.

While other insects have succeeded in some way in migrating from the mainland, the beetles have apparently been unable to cross the wide, icy waters.

When Parasols Began.

Parasols when they first came into use must have been cumbersome. Henri Estienne, writing in 1578, speaks of a parasol as capable generally of sheltering four persons from the sun. And when they diminished in circumference the material still remained of the heaviest. Red velvet parasols, with heavy gold fringes, were carried by ladies of fashion in the days of Louis XIV. At that time it was possible when crossing a bridge in Paris to hire a parasol at one end and deposit it at the other, the charge for the accommodation being a sou. Under the regency fashion went to the other extreme. Men's parasols folded into the shape of a three cornered hat and could thus be carried elegantly under the arm. Ladies' parasols were hinged so that they could slip into the pocket, for ladies had pockets then.—London Spectator.

Seven Bells.

Everybody who knows anything about nautical matters understands the methods of keeping time at sea—eight bells every four hours. From 6 to 8 in the evening is the second dogwatch, but on British ships seven bells (half past 7) of the second dogwatch are never struck. All other ships, even the American, strike these bells. During the Napoleonic wars there was a great mutiny in the British navy. The crews of the fleets lying at Spithead and the Nore agreed to rise simultaneously against their officers. The signal agreed upon was seven bells of the second dogwatch. The mutiny actually began at the arranged time, but failed, the ringleaders being executed. Ever since then seven bells of the second dogwatch has never been struck on British ships, naval or mercantile.

The Misguided Friend.

De Chappie—if there's any one nuisance I hate more than another it's a fellow who is always going around introducing people. There's Goodheart, for instance. Bouttown—What's he been doing? De Chappie—The idiot! The other day he introduced me to a man I owed money to, and I'd been owing it so long he'd forgotten all about me. Now I'll have to pay up or be sued.—London Telegraph.

Serene Sarcasm.

"You have completely upset my train of thought," exclaimed the frustable man.

"I shouldn't call anything so easily upset a train," commented his irritating wife. "It's more like a canoe."—Washington Star.

LIKE AN ANCIENT FORT.

Mexico's Spiked Mountain a Curious Geological Freak.

One of the most remarkable geological freaks in Mexico is a mountain situated near Puebla, which presents the appearance at a distance of being covered with spikes. The sides of the mountain are closely studded with stone columns or pinnacles. These columns are five feet to twelve feet long and as large around as an average man's body.

It is a remarkable uplift of nature, which has the appearance, however, of being the handiwork of human beings. One side of the mountain is almost perpendicular, and the stone columns protrude from the surface at right angles, forming an impressive picture.

Puebla is one of the most noted mining districts in Mexico and it is said by geologists that this remarkable spiked mountain is out of keeping with the remainder of the formation of the mineralized region.

The stone is as hard as flint and has withstood the elements for ages. The spikes form a natural battlement that makes the mountain appear from a distance like some ancient fort.

The mines of the Puebla district are situated not far from this wonderful freak of nature, but the formation encountered in their respective underground workings is of an entirely different kind from that of the pinnacles.—Pearson's Weekly.

FLUNG UP FROM THE SEA.

Birth of the Bogoslof Group of the Aleutian Islands.

The first of the Bogoslof group of the Aleutian Islands was born in the year 1796.

There was a great convulsion in the Bering sea about twenty-five miles north of Unalaska, and an island appeared above the surface of the stormy waters. This islet, which rose to a height of nearly 3,000 feet above sea level, was christened Bogoslof by the Russians, who then owned Alaska. It remained solitary and alone until 1882, when another volcanic eruption in the sea was followed by the birth of another island near the first.

For two years the new island was the scene of an active eruption. Then it cooled gradually and, like the first islet, became the home of seals and sea lions and the breeding grounds for sea birds.

The third of the Bogoslof group was born in 1906. The "baby" was smaller than its elder sister, being about a third of a mile in diameter and with an altitude of some 600 feet, but the following year another convulsion of nature resulted in nearly doubling its area.

Since then several other islands have been born in various parts of the Aleutian chain.—Chicago Journal.

An Author's Odd Aversion.

The "stoic" meal had attractions for Edward Fitzgerald, who, among his other peculiarities, hated to see people enjoying their food. On one occasion, after a man had finished a glass of wine in his company and gone out of the room, Fitzgerald remarked with disgust: "Did you notice how he took up his glass? I am sure he likes it. Bah!" Fitzgerald himself, according to his biographer, A. C. Benson, "lived practically on bread and fruit, mostly apples and pears, even a turnip, with sometimes cheese or butter and milk puddings. But he was not a bigoted vegetarian. To avoid an appearance of singularity he would eat meat at other houses and provided it in plenty for his guests. But the only social meal he cared to join in was 'tea, pure and simple, with bread and butter.'"

Genius and Appetite.

Sir Francis Galton held that a good appetite is one of the attributes of genius. "Most notabilities have been great eaters and excellent digesters on the same principle that the furnace which can raise more steam than is usual for one of its size must burn more freely and well than is common," Scott was of the same opinion. In a letter to Canning respecting an article promised to the Quarterly Review he advises him to break the neck of it after a hearty meal, "preferably of boiled chicken." And he practiced what he preached, for, like Tennyson, Dickens, Thackeray and many other nineteenth century authors, Scott was an excellent trencherman.—London Opinion.

The Romans Dressed For Dinner.

A sartorial authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance to the home of the host he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

Lawyers' Way.

"I can't understand why those two lawyers call it a deed of trust."

"Why not?"

"From the care with which they are carrying it up it is quite evident that they don't trust each other."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet

Cuts Work In Half

This marvel of convenience has places for 400 articles, all within arm's reach. But it's more than a centralized storehouse. The Hoosier is an automatic servant with 40 labor saving inventions—each like a helping hand! Some cabinets have copied a few of them, but 17 of these Hoosier features can't be found in all other cabinets combined. Into the Hoosier are built the pick of the ways for saving work that the leading Domestic Science experts have discovered.

The picture above shows the section of your cabinet that is most important—the part that makes it a real helper. Storage space is above and below; the articles most often used are placed where they are easiest reached. There is plenty of unhampered room above and around the aluminum (or porcelain) work-table.

There are no useless little partitions to chop up the space and leave no room for work. Your cabinet must have big table space to work on. The Hoosier gives it.

SIX EXCLUSIVE HOOSIER FEATURES YOU

MUST HAVE.

- 1—The all-metal glass front flour bin.
- 2—The gear-driven shaker flour sifter which makes flour light and fluffy.
- 3—Scientific arrangement—articles needed most frequently easiest reached.
- 4—Revolving caster—the final touch of convenience.
- 5—The ingenious, big-capacity sugar bin—holds more than twice as much as most other bins.
- 6—Finally, the doors that roll back at the sides of the cabinet, entirely out of the way.

And regardless of the room in your kitchen, there's a special Hoosier model to fit, at a price you can easily afford.

PRICES AND TERMS

Over 1,000,000 women use the Hoosier. Enormous output makes possible our low prices, which now range from $19.85 to $33.00.

LEARN HOW TO SAVE MILES OF STEPS

Come in and see the Hoosier—learn how to save miles of steps, hours of toil, how delightful it is to sit down at the Hoosier and do your cooking comfortably, how it helps you get good meals quickly, helps tidy up in just a few moments after meals.

The Hoosier saves countless trips to the cellar, to the sink, pantry and cupboard. You may think you already have a convenient kitchen, but a million other women know better. You may change your mind when you see the Hoosier.
